BURNS MOUNTAIN MINE MAY REOPEN SOON

The temporary damping down of the mining fever in the Cariboo district last winter and spring has not affected the Burns Mountain Mine. The company has its officers in Barkerville, and is said to be ready to start work at the earliest possible date. The B.C. government has not yet sanctioned the mining operations, but the mine is expected to be opened for business in a short time.

The Burns Mountain Mine is located near the town of Burns Lake, and is one of the largest and most productive mines in the district. It is estimated that the mine contains over a million dollars worth of ore. The miners working on the property are well paid, and the company is said to be in a position to continue operations for a long time.

The mine is operated by a group of experienced miners, and is equipped with modern machinery. The company is well capitalized, and has a large amount of capital invested in the property.

The opening of the Burns Mountain Mine is expected to be a great boost to the mining industry in the Cariboo district. The mine is expected to produce a large amount of ore, and will create a great deal of employment for miners in the area.

The company is expected to commence operations in the near future, and is looking forward to a prosperous future. The mine is well situated, and is expected to be a great success.

The window displays were up on Thursday, and on Friday there was a real good show, and we were glad to be back on display. The service was done. Some of the men gave grunts and showed signs of distress. After the show the young passengers had to find their way out.
