FARM JOTTINGS

HOME CURING OF PORK

In the home curing of pork either the "dry salt" or the "brine" method may be employed, but whichever process is adopted common salt is the curing agent. Such other ingredients as sugar, salt-petre, and baking soda are also used. As a rule the old fashioned brown sugar is preferred to the white granulated kind as it is believed to give a slightly better flavor to the meat. A small quantity of salt-petre has a preservative effect and gives a reddish color to the meat. Baking soda is used principally with the brine cure.

Pork for curing should be cut up into convenient size, and it is important on the one hand, that all animal heat has been cooled out of the meat, and, on the other hand that the meat is not frozen when the curing commences. A cool, well ventilated cellar is an ideal for both brine and dry curing. The curing is more easily controlled in cold, or at least cool weather, so that the thick pieces may not have a chance to spoil before the salt has penetrated. For beginners the brine cure is preferred because there is less likelihood of failure, for full information as to the home curing of pork, the storing of meat, and how to make sausage and head cheese is contained in the booklet "The Home Curing of Pork" just issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

GATHERING, KEEPING AND MARKETING EGGS

Deep, roomy nests, provided for hens, will reduce egg breakage. Eggs should be collected at least once daily, and during very cold and very warm weather collections should be made at noon and night to avoid freezing or heating.

The egg should be taken at once to a cool cellar, where there is a fairly uniform low temperature. It may be advisable to open one of two windows and substitute screens covered with cheesecloth for ventilation to carry off excessive moisture or odor. Dirty eggs should be cleaned with coarse sandpaper but not washed. Stains may be removed with a little vinegar on a clean cloth. Washing eggs destroys the protective coating and lowers the grade.

Clean pine shavings have proved to be the best nest material at the Dominion Experimental Station, at Harrow, Ontario. Shavings facilitate "cleaning" and form a better cushion in the nest than hay or cut straw.

At this season of the year shells are more likely to be brittle and the contents of poor quality, due to hair cracks and and so called "grass" or dark yolks, and careful candling is advisable as the best prices are to be obtained. Candle and grade according to the Canadian Standard Egg Grading Regulations and pack wholesale shipments in clean fillers and good cases.

PRAIRIE CROPS 93% OF NORMAL CONDITION

Reports from 1,260 correspondents of Searle Grain Co. Ltd. indicate that the weighted average condition of the wheat crop for the three prairie provinces is 93 per cent. of normal. The southwest and west central districts of Saskatchewan and the northern portion of Alberta are the districts having the lowest averages, but favorable weather can better their condition. Wheat stooling in all three provinces is considerably better than last year. The generally improved condition over last year is due to more rainfall and at the same time less grasshopper damage. What frost damage there has been will not do any great harm at this period. The weighted average increase in coarse grain acreage for the three provinces would be about three per cent over last year's acreage.

In a well-planned perennial border there should be bloom from early spring until fall, and there is much to interest an observant gardener in noting the differences in habits of growth and color of foliage throughout the season, for instance, the bronze of the peony; the bluish leaves of the Virginia bluebell, and the swordlike leaves of the iris.

Frozen plants should be thawed out slowly. Remove them from direct sun-rays and keep them at a temperature of from 35 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit until thawed. If cold water is used for thawing, the temperature must not rise above this.

In thawing out plants, water at 50 or 60 degrees Fahrenheit will probably harm the plants more than by permitting them to thaw themselves out.

In some cases the drying up of the fronds of hardy ferns suggests that the ferns are in need of a rest — all plants require a rest for a period similar to that which they have under natural conditions in the winter.

The Week's Work in Canada's Parliament

OTTAWA—A monotonous hum of hard work was the nearest thing to news coming from the M.P.-deserted offices on Parliament Hill this week.

But as this letter was being written reports were being circulated that Prime Minister R. B. Bennett would within twenty-four hours announce the hub of the Conservative Party's Reform for Security programme for the coming election, make editors reserve front-page space.

Plainly and without subterfuge, it was hinted, he will ask the people if they want to reform the British North America Act, thus allowing implementation of the full recommendations of the Price Spreads investigation in all their ramifications — maybe ask power to go even farther.

Expected also this week are announcements from the Prime Minister of three new Cabinet appointments, young men well known as members of Parliament to replace retiring ministers; seventeen new Senators to fill present vacancies; appointments for several high offices, including deputy ministers.

The end of the week the Prime Minister left his official duties for a short rest and holiday in the Maritimes, on his return will announce his completed new Cabinet of younger minds, the date of the general election. Gossip paddlers have already picked September 23, a Monday, as the likely date.

First appearance for a public address since prorogation was made by Railways Minister Dr. R. J. Manion in Ottawa Tuesday. He talked to a pulp and paper convention. Right in the midst of these big business men, reform-for-security-advocate Mr. Manion challenged big business men throughout Canada to co-operate with constituted authority "in clearing up the errors of capitalism and democracy."

"If we strike another depression like the four years from 1929 to 1933, our capitalist and democratic system cannot survive," Mr. Manion, no hair-splitter, warned. He also suggested care be exercised by well meaning citizens that they be not carried away by Communist leaders who were seeking to destroy all that true Canadians hold dear—free speech, liberties that are Anglo-Saxon and British institutions.

Concluding, the Railways Minister reiterated his stand there would be no amalgamation, that for at least two good reasons it would not solve the railway problem.

Government administrators' and Cabinet ministers' desks were piled high with new bills made law by the Governor-General's pen scratch this week. But as important as any, more so to Western Canada, in all the piles was No. 98 to create a wheat Board.

Routinists will be the setting up of a board of three men to administer the Act, but big news for all Canada will be the figure the Government names for the minimum price to start the new crop year on August 1st.

The wheat grower will know what his initial payment may be; the grain trader will know how easy or how hard it will be for him to hedge and thus obtain the necessary credit to carry on his business; the country will know how much the Government intends to do for the man who produces Canada's leading export—wheat. Gone then will be the fear of every grain grower since 22, 24, 26 and 28 cent wheat came too near putting him out of business. The world price may go low, but the nation will be behind the wheat grower with the minimum.

Chief political news last week was the definite assurance by himself that Prime Minister Bennett would lead his Party through the election fight. He let this be known at a final parting word caucus the morning the House prorogued.

Chief political news this week was the Sunday night announcement by ex-Minister of Trade and Commerce H. H. Stevens that he would lead his own party during the campaign. He has the backing of three business men, Thomas V. Bell, Montreal; Warren Cook, Toronto, and Thomas Lissen, Hamilton, he said. Considering Mr. Stevens' announcement Ottawa remained calm. The three men named as supporters are unknown here, have made no previous appearance in political affairs. Mr. Bell is a stationer, as is Mr. Lissen. Mr. Cook is a garment manufacturer.

Mr. Stevens' Sunday night statement was confined to the bare declaration he wants his own party. Impartial Ottawa opinion doubts that there is any general public demand for a fourth political party in Canada.

In some trees in Canada such as the birch and the white spruce, the starch which forms in the summer becomes transformed to fat in the winter. The fat in turn reverts to starch again on the approach of spring. This formation of fat appears to be clearly an adaptation for withstanding the extreme cold of northern latitudes.

WELLS BRIEFS

Miss Gladys Ford of Shellbrook, Sask., is spending the summer holidays with Mrs. T. W. Sutherland.

Mrs. Jack Reid and family have taken up residence in Wells. Mr. Reid is in the power house at the Quartz.

Mrs. Gange and little daughter are visiting at the home of Mrs. Hindmarch, Mrs. Gange's mother.

O. H. Solibakke and two daughters, Margaret and Patty, have been in Wells for the past week. Mr. Solibakke made a short trip to Swamp River. The girls expect to leave this week for Stuart Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Matheson who have been spending the last week at Bear Lake, returned to Wells Sunday.

Mrs. Wynne left on her return trip to England. She sails on Friday, July 19th.

C. Kimberly has returned from Revelstoke where he has been spending a vacation.

Mr. Finlayson, Mary, John and Doug left on Monday for a week at Bear Lake.

Miss Adair of Burnaby is spending the summer holidays here.

Mrs. Vere Jr. has now joined her husband, who is working at the Quartz.

Steve Carre spent and past week in Quesnel.

Chief Justice Morrison and Miss Morrison were guests of the Wells Hotel from Sunday to Monday.

Monty and Mrs. Tucker arrived back from their wedding trip late on Saturday night, and have taken up residence over the garage. We extend to them our hearty congratulations and welcome Mrs. Tucker to the community.

A nice clean-up was made last week by Mr. A. F. Eastman and associates on their Red Gulch property. It amounted to 160 ounces. This represents 40 days operation with a four-inch monitor and is very gratifying.

The dance at Bear Lake on Saturday last drew a large crowd. Quite a number remained for Sunday. Everyone reports an excellent time, and the music furnished by the Syncopaters was all that could be desired. On Sunday there were no fish caught to amount to anything. Someone remarked that there was no one foolish enough to want to fish. One outstanding feature of this week end is the fact that in the endeavor to acquire a good coat of tan or otherwise gild the lily, some members of the fairer sex got badly burned, and there are one or two of the boys who are complaining of mighty sore shoulders, eh, Stan?

Tom Somerton has been spending the last week or so in Wells and vicinity. Tom is an enthusiast, and while on arrival, he was only going to spend a day or two, the air and attractions in this neck of the woods have made such an impression on Tom that he is mighty reluctant to leave.

Great progress is being made by the various committees in charge of the two sports days at Wells on August 9th and 10th. No effort is being spared to make these days attractive to all and the best ever. To our readers we would urge a visit to Wells to take in the "Celebration." The prize lists are published in this issue of the paper. Watch for large bills and further announcements.

STANLEY NEWS

Residents felt the heat wave very badly last week end. So intense were the sun's rays that for a while Stanley took on the appearance of a nudist colony to a great extent. Olive oil applied to the sun blisters saved the day. One of the citizens of tall stature was seen stalking around with a straw hat of ancient vintage, wearing very little more than one might have seen in the Garden of Eden. Another distinguished resident found his pants missing after bathing in the cool, muddy waters of Lightning Creek. Luckily he discovered some burlap handy and was able to return to his domicile arrayed not unlike Robinson Crusoe. But his beard was not black.

Bill Golder told us after the heat wave that Eve in all her glory was not arrayed like any of these.

The Three Guzzleleers, locally known as the Consuming Trio, visited Stanley last Saturday and returned to the mine on Monday or Tuesday evening.

Cupid does not appear to be dismayed even in hot weather. Too many cooks spoil the soup, but when only one cook is the dart for Cupid's arrow—competition becomes keen. We refrain from mentioning names, but understand some of the contenders include gents of many nationalities, including those from near where the River Shannon flows, the land of the heather (two varieties—highland and lowland) a fur trader from near Arrow Lakes, and last but not least a chef of tall dimension. We place our bets on the latter in the belief that a cook would make an ideal combination. What a salad!

Benny Hanafin was thrown from the back of Ribbon, the horse recently acquired from a Quesnel racing stable. Fortunately Benny suffered no injury. We learn that the accident happened on the Glorious Twelfth, but cannot vouch for its correctness.

Meanwhile Van Winkle is still on the map. It is not unlikely that before many moons have waxed and waned the news of quartz discoveries of interest will attract the attention of mining men.

Bill Golder states that he has presented George Shaw with a lot in Stanley upon which the latter will erect a building as headquarters for the "Truth-Seekers League." It is understood the foundation stone will be laid at the time of the Wells celebration in August. Further announcement later.

Cupid is still hovering around in the ofing. May the best contender win.

Meantime the mystery of the missing pants still remains unsolved.
